

FAQ's about Electric Aggregation

October 11, 2021

Is the postcard a scam? Is the City aware of this?

The City is aware that the postcards were sent out. It is not a scam.

Why is the City doing this?

The City manages a Municipal Aggregation program for our residents. This program allows the City to secure more favorable billing rates/terms for its residents. The costs for our Municipal Aggregation supplier (Eligo) to serve your account have gone up considerably. Therefore, they are returning your account to ComEd.

What do I need to do?

There is no action needed on your part.

What changes should I expect?

You will not experience any changes to your service or billing. ComEd will continue to bill your account and ComEd will continue to maintain the power lines in the event of an outage.

What is the financial impact to me?

There is NO IMPACT to you. Our supplier was previously charging you the ComEd rate. So there will be no change in your rate when you return to ComEd.

What is the current ComEd rate?

The current rate is 7.78¢/kilowatt hour through May of 2022. (Our consultant informs us that electric rates are expected to drop next June.)

I received a letter from ComEd. What is that about?

The ComEd letter is confirming the move back to ComEd. No action is needed on your part.

For more information, contact the City of Warrenville at (630) 836-3050. If you have further questions, your contact information will be forwarded to NIMEC, the consulting firm that helps the City manage the electric aggregation program. A consultant will return your call today.